L. S. U. Tiger fans are equally as enthusiastic as the Californians and the Tigers are practicing with all the art of the game to win. It is going to be a great event and possibly a greater game. Both sides are well matched, winners of the past and will be well met. All eyes of the country will be on New Orleans and its Sugar Bowl enterprise in athletics on New Year's Day. Many from the Gulf Coast will witness the game.

No Disorderly Conduct At Clermont Harbor Benefit School Dance

In a news article appearing in the last issue of The Echo, to the effect that an officer of the law was summoned during a dance given at the local Clermont Harbor school house, it was stated complaint had been made against "unlawful and disgraceful conduct during such affairs at the school house," that school children sold tickets for these events, and it was further alleged that many procured liquor in the vicinity of the school house.

This is not in line with the facts, according to a signed statement received from the association of Mothers Club of Clermont Harbor, asking that a "grave error" be rectified.

"We wish to inform the public," says the statement, "that there was no disorderly conduct in the Clermont Harbor school during the process of a dance held on December 19, 1936."

CIVIC CLUB TO HEAR GAS MAN

Representative of South-Western Gas & Electric Company to Speak Here Jan. 6.

In an effort to procure the services of natural gas for Bay St. Louis, the local Rotary Club has invited Mr. F. E. Bowes, division manager of the Southwestern Gas & Electric Company, of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, to address that body and other business men on Wednesday, January 6 at noon, Hotel Weston.

The Rotary Weekly Bulletin says "This will mark the 'lifting of the lid' in our drive for gas."

There is no reason why gas cannot be piped into Bay-Waveland. If united effort and every endeavor or possible exertion can prove success, then it is evident the local civic club will be successful. The effort seems determined.

Member of Hearst Organization Visits Bay St. Louis City

Perry R. Long, of New York City, spent Thursday in Bay St. Louis while visiting along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, his first visit to this section.

Mr. Long is a prominent member of the famous Hearst newspaper organization and flew South on a brief holiday vacation. He is the production manager of Hearst's American Weekly, one of Hearst's magazines, and his one day's visit to the Gulf Coast was a complimentary trip to the Hearst newspapers of 6,000,000 copies.

While in Bay St. Louis Mr. Long visited the Sea Coast Echo and a most interesting visit it proved. A man long in service, a worker and versatile he is an interesting figure. Yet comparative a young man he is alive, alert and ever ready to go and do. Personally acquainted with the late Arthur Brisbane and many of the leading lights of Hearst's organization he talks along all-absorbing interest. While on his trip to Bay St. Louis he was the guest of Mr. Frederick Forstall of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, Mr. Forstall unable to make the trip Mr. Long was accompanied by Mr. Forstall, Jr.

The hope is expressed:—

That the achievements that are best for one's moral betterment be realized to greatest extent possible.

Material wealth and power are fleeting.

The Echo wishes a happy New Year in that sense where all contributions from virtue practiced will yield more lastingly and abundantly as well.

The Echo also wishes to embrace this occasion to express its thanks and appreciation for the good will and kindness it has enjoyed at the hands of its friends and the public in general. With continued support we cherish the hope we may successfully strive to merit a continuation of this good will. Without it we perish.

Picayune Student Sells Tombstones To Aid Education

Gibbs Mitchell, medical student of Loyola University, New Orleans, stayed out of school this year to replenish his finances. In order to do this he is engaged as clerk in a local drug store and has secured the agency to represent four well-known marble concerns and is soliciting orders for monuments and tombstones of all sizes and designs. He expects to return to Loyola to continue his medical course next year.

A writer of The Echo while in Picayune recently had occasion to visit this particularly drug store and discovered this young man willing, eager to serve and not only so, but most courteous. Returning on another occasion to Picayune this writer desirous of making a purchase naturally gravitated over to this particular drug store and again received the attention that means "Thank you for your trade. Come back again." There is a future for this splendid young man.

Some agricultural experts fear that a severe blizzard next year will cause a sharp drop in the prices of agricultural products, particularly if 1937 is a poor crop year.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY AT NITE CLUB

SANTA CLARA ARRIVES

University Football Team Players Impressed With Beauty of Bay City

Santa Clara University football players reached Bay St. Louis Thursday morning as per schedule and even though a slow rain prevailed throughout the morning the boys were liberal in their praise of the beauty of Bay St. Louis and this section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, California's well-known beauty and desirability notwithstanding.

The "boys" are a fine looking set. Sturdy and husky, picture of health and in the pink of condition. "We enjoyed the trip South immensely," said one of the group that visited The Echo office Thursday morning, and it is a trip and occasion that naturally we shall never forget.

"Do you think you will win the game," was asked. "Maybe we will and maybe we won't, but there is one thing certain in the event we should lose our friends on the opposing line will know that we were in the fray."

Jess Coffey, Jules Perrin, Jim Barlow and Louis Farasyn were among the group visiting the newspaper plant and office. The number in Bay St. Louis included 35. The boys are at Hotel Weston.

"We were at liberty to stop where we wished and we selected the hotel," said one.

Telling the boys about the rain—that it was "unusual" as they say in California by way of excuse when the weather man breaks faith with the Golden State's fame for all-year-round fair weather, one quickly responded: "That's nothing. California has nothing on Bay St. Louis. It was raining, too, when we left home. And how?"

The boys are not mindful about the weather as beastly as it is for Thursday. They take it philosophically, knowing that with the prediction of cold weather for Friday it will be O. K. with them.

We have never met a finer set of young men than these. And it was a source of interest and pleasure to have this group and others that called on the local newspaper.

They are going to play a closely-contested game Friday and many from Bay St. Louis will be at the Sugar Bowl to witness the great gridiron classic of the season.

A number of representatives accompanying and others assembled at St. Stanislaus College, sponsors for Santa Clara coming to Bay St. Louis, and a number of citizens interested and assisting, met in informal reception. The College is due a vote of thanks for this stroke that wins for Bay St. Louis a well worth compliment.

Santa Clara is 38 miles from San Francisco.

J. C. FAIR APPOINTED BANK COMPTROLLER BY GOVERNOR WHITE

Mr. Fair announced that he would make immediate appointments on his staff as follows:

XMAS AT TAYLOR SCHOOL

Ward School in Northern Section Bay St. Louis Has Happy Yuletide Program.

One of our outstanding city schools because of the interest in community life manifested both by teacher and pupil is the R. W. Taylor Ward School, located at the north end of the city, the school built in that section by the lamented Alderman Robert Wesley Taylor and the school named for him, which has served to admirable purpose.

The annual Christmas program at this school serves a double purpose—school and community as well. The principal, Mrs. Lena D. Stockstill, has developed a magnificent community spirit to that extent that the school and residents of that section co-operate and work for such desired ends that measure far greater than the dollars and cents expended by the city.

This year's yuletide celebration was no exception. There was a program, which follows, a Christmas tree and the donation of many toys and other things that contribute to the making of happy holidays.

Song—When Santa Claus Comes to Town.

Acrostic Santa Claus—by ten primary pupils.

Acrostic—Merry Christmas by fourteen pupils.

This number included memory readings, songs and dance steps followed by a march.

The closing number—A Visit To Santa Claus Land—by the entire school.

The first act was a party in a modern home where the children told what Santa Claus did last year.

Act two—A scene in Santa's home at the North Pole. J. H. Johnston as Santa Claus deserves special mention as also Mrs. Santa (Ramona Adam) and the Fairy played by Dorothy Register with Junior Trappan as postman, were well rendered.

The stage was a beautiful home scene, a fire place with electric log—made things very real indeed.

This program was followed by distribution of presents from a beautiful tree.

The fairy godfather for this community and school enterprise is Mr. George E. Pitcher who gave a most generous check to cover the expense of the tree. The pupils, teachers and community requests The Echo to express their thanks and appreciation to this splendid and generous type of citizenship and who has made this happiness possible by his thoughtful generosity the past ten years. And the acknowledgement is here made regardless of his modesty and desire not to be known in the premises as the giver.

Mrs. Stockstill as teacher conducts not only a successful school where the three R's are taught, but an institution that means more than academic side of teaching. Here is the center of the community, somewhat of a clearance-house. It is here that many of the finer things in life, not found in grammar grade books, are practiced in daily life. Here is taught gentleness, graciousness, unselfishness, politeness, proper manner within and without the home, general hygiene and the finer principles that go to develop character. The Taylor School is an unusual institution and serves to develop, to build and to live right.

AN ESSAY ON BUYING AT HOME.

MILLIONS of words have been printed and uttered in the interests of trading at home and every community of any size stages periodical drives to keep the home town dollar revolving in the circle of its business enterprises.

Much ridicule has been poked at small towns and cities as they attempted to develop into trading centers but the same ambitions move the boosters of the larger metropolitan areas and their rivalries are on the same plane. It is laudable for any municipality to desire growth and, because so many cultural activities depend upon the prosperity of business, entirely commendable to encourage the growth of home town enterprises, which provide employment for local citizens. There was a time in many cities when a man or woman who bought out of town was considered something of a misfit. There was a general realization of the desirability of keeping money at home but not quite such a clear conception of the way to turn the trick. It was generally assumed, in many quarters, that what was necessary was a series of articles on trading at home in the local newspaper at the editor's expense and that was that.

Today, more than ever before, it is being generally recognized that the job of keeping home money in town is primarily one that belongs to the merchants and business men and that it is not to be undertaken in the same way that colleges work up pep for football games. There is no use to assail a fellow-townsmen for trading somewhere else when there is a distinct advantage to the family pocket-book in so doing. In other words, trading being what it is, buyers are naturally going to take the best bargains they can obtain and it is the function of merchants to provide them with the best buys.

No town can successfully institute buying at home and keep it going unless it possesses alert, industrious and capable merchants, who are able to sell merchandise along modern lines, giving customers the same advantages that can be obtained in other parts. Buying at home will not work if all that it means is the snarling of dollars from unwary and unintelligent buyers.

Bay St. Louis merchants have the ability, they have the means and many of them are now exhibiting merchandising skill that encourages the belief that buyers will find it worth their time and money to shop here. The same observation applies to many merchants in nearby towns and cities. The local merchant, everywhere, has the advantage of proximity to his trade which nobody can take from him. It is worth having and should be the means of securing for him the trade support of the buyers in his natural field of operations.

CALIFORNIANS IN BAY ST. LOUIS

IT is quite a distinction that Bay St. Louis should have been selected for the final training grounds of Santa Clara Broncos, opponents of Louisiana State University Tigers in the third annual Sugar Bowl classic at Tulane Stadium in New Orleans on New Year's Day.

The Broncos left the far West Saturday and were scheduled to stop off at Rice Institute in Houston, Texas, for a couple of days before resuming their journey to Old Orleans and which will finally bring them to Bay St. Louis for their prep.

Due to reach Bay St. Louis no later than Thursday morning the players and their party will remain at St. Stanislaus College and stadium until shortly before noon Friday, due at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans about 1:30 on the day of the contest.

Bay St. Louis naturally welcomes the Californians. They have journeyed from the far-Pacific Coast for this particular visit to America's Most Interesting City. May their stay in Bay St. Louis be one of success, of unforgettable memories in later years.

We owe a debt of thanks to Bro. William, president of St. Stanislaus for his activity in the premises of getting the team to visit here; for his generosity and enterprise; we owe thanks to others who in any way assisted and were instrumental in getting the Broncos here. They will carry memories of Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Gulf Coast to their own Golden State.

FOREIGN SCOUTS COMING TO JAMBOREE

Invitations sent to Boy Scout organizations of 73 different lands have already brought assurances that the thousands of American boys at the National Scout Jamboree in Washington next June 30 to July 9 will be hosts to foreign contingents.

Great Britain plans to send 50 Scouts and several leaders. Rumania will send a picked patrol of eight scouts; Poland will be represented by 24 scouts, and Canada and Mexico each plan to send a full troop of thirty-three boys. Other countries planning to send contingents are Venezuela, Chile, Colombia, Bermuda, Poland, Denmark, Switzerland, Hungary, Luxembourg, India and Ceylon.

FOR 1937: LET'S LOOK OURSELVES IN THE FACE.

THE beginning of a New Year always appeals to the individual, who is easily led into thinking that something new really starts and affords an opportunity for inaugurating better days for human beings, governments and associations.

The attitude thus created is not without value even if the illusion of beginning over again must be made real by the labor of the person affected. The reader of this article, if so minded, can make the era of new events come true but it depends entirely upon the will power, the stamina and the courage of the party involved.

Since there are no doubt, hundreds of people in Hancock County who will look forward to 1937 with bright hopes and high aspirations, it is not amiss to give them some encouragement. There is no reason why individuals should not take the New Year as a time for checking up to weigh progress made and to plan advances for the future. Every man and every woman desires improvement and to dwell upon your own state of frankness with yourself is the first step forward.

Throwing aside all the advanced talk of mental scientists it may be assumed that the first duty of the individual is self-development. Properly understood, this includes all the rest of the program. The person who develops properly is able to understand others and to make himself, or herself, understood in a world that is complex with problems and confused with error. It is an achievement that few of us realize.

WE believe it is a good plan to give a few hours to self-analysis regularly and New Year's day is apt to find us in such a mood. As a practical method, let us suggest that you write down, for your private contemplation, a list of vices and virtues, making a sort of balance sheet of your personal qualities. When you have done this, study the results a bit.

Spread out a little further and include a listing of your activities in your community. Put down in writing, if you will, the names of the local organizations that, you think, deserve your support and, also, the operations in your area that do not, in your opinion, deserve your sanction. When you finish, check up on your contribution, in service or cash, to make these agencies function. It will give you an idea of what lies ahead of you.

You should not fail to note that you are a complex human being, with three phases intermingled to make a person. What of your physical condition? What of your mind? What of your spiritual nature? Are you conscious of recent improvement in any line or does frustration register as you contemplate what might have been? Anyway, look at the report frankly and make up your mind. It is the step toward getting somewhere.

NO personal inventory would be complete without some analysis of your use of time and money. Time is the essence of life, as someone has well said, and most of us waste much of it without ever thinking that we are spending life itself. Money, a necessary commodity under present civilization, often assumes strange forms in our thinking and therefore we fail to establish a correct personal relationship to it. Time and money, vital to every life, should not be confusing but both will bother us unless we do some clear thinking. Anyway, as 1937 gets underway there should be some realization of the duty involved in developing our individual personalities to the highest possible level, a desire to understand, as far as we may, the task assumed and a firm determination to make progress toward the goal in the days that stretch before us.

TAXES MUST BE INCREASED.

IN many counties and possibly cities tax-payers will find they will be called upon to pay more than ever. There will be a slight raise, needless to say. Where the levy remains the same assessment has been increased, and where assessment remains unchanged there is an addition of more millage.

The State Board of Assessors has demanded many counties to increase assessment and since this is mandatory nothing remains to be done but obey orders.

It is not strange we must pay more taxes than heretofore. While cities and counties have been retrenching and spending no money on improvements, always with a view of saving for the taxpayer, it must be borne in mind that in recent years we voted many bond issues, almost without limit it would appear.

True these monies realized by such issues brought us many good things in the way of public betterment. Our schools, highways and bridges, sewalls, paved streets, and the like. These bonds are maturing and interest accumulating with a lessened tax collection. Lessened for the reason many of our industries, such as saw mills, and timbered lands that always carried a large share of taxation, exist no more. Farms and other lands have been forfeited and reverted to the State, thus removed from the assessment rolls.

We find ourselves with more to pay and with less revenue to meet the demand. This applies principally to State and counties as well.

A great deal of unwarranted criticism has been voiced in different parts of the State, all of which is unfair and without foundation. The fact remains obligations must be discharged and current expenses, regardless how much curtailed, must be met. And it takes money to do so.

No one feels overjoyed paying taxes. Especially when the amounts show increase. But the law of compensation will ever prevail and it all resolves in the last analysis that pay we must. Taxes are inevitable and there is nothing to be done about it. This might not be much consolation but it is always better and fair to all concerned to face the facts squarely as they exist.

A Washington motorist has been fined $2.00 for putting on his 1937 auto tags too early, and shortly after New Year's Day there will be many who will feel the grip of the law for operating with expired tags; all of which recalls an adage from the school reader which ran something like this: But the first by which the new is tried, nor yet the last, to lay the old aside.

LENDING AGENCIES

More than thirty government agencies are operating for the purpose of lending money. Chief of them is the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Farm Credit Administration and the Home Owners Loan Corporation, which have done much to aid banks, railways and insurance companies, farmers and homeowners. Also in the banking business is the F.W.A., F.W.A., Commodity Credit Corporation and smaller offices. Altogether they have assets in round numbers, amounting to $11,000,000,000 and liabilities, chiefly bonds, notes and debentures, of about $6,500,000,000. The question is not whether these agencies have accomplished good work but whether the government should gradually get out of the credit field. This will happen, in our opinion, when reasonable credit facilities, at cheap interest rates, become available to the people generally and not before.

FREIGHT RATES CUT

Emergency freight rates expire Dec. 31, the Interstate Commerce Commission having refused the plea of the railroads that they be continued. The roads estimate that the loss in revenue will be around $10,000,000 a month but the commission, by a 9 to 2 vote, declared that conditions which led to the emergency charges no longer existed.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

TEST OF CONSTITUTIONALITY

(Clarksdale Register)

BEFORE Governor White's plan to balance agriculture with industry was enacted into law, Mr. Edgar Harris of the West Point Daily Times Leader sat in on a conference of prominent Mississippians at Jackson, at which several of the state's leading lawyers volunteered informal opinions that the statute then agreed upon and since enacted into law was not in conflict with section 183 of the state constitution. Thus reveals Mr. Harris in his Daily Times Leader.

"Under the terms of the state's new industrial law, the local taxing district which elects to issue bonds for the erection of a factory building," he observes, "will not be appropriating its money or lending its credit to the corporation or association which may afterwards lease the building."

Mr. Harris affirms that factory buildings remain the property of the taxing district which provides funds for their construction.

Constitutionality of the enactment nevertheless remains a specter that will not down for the present. A constitutional

SHARING THE WEALTH

(Jackson News)

MY goodness! A whole month has passed and nary a word has been heard from the Irrev. G. K. Smith, concerning his Share Your Wealth idea—the idea he swiped from Huey Long after the latter met a tragic death. Last heard from the Irrev. was when a pair of policemen toted him off to jail.

Well, a lot of people still believe in the Share Your Wealth idea—among them being this writer.

Quite willing right at this moment to share our wealth with Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller and J. Piermont Morgan—assuming, of course, that they will share their wealth with us on a more liberal basis of distribution.

test of the statute is a certainty. Opinions of either side of the controversy count for nothing. The outcome can not be predicted until the courts decide. Whether the statute be constitutional or otherwise, we believe it to be in grave danger. A law that is greatly needed in Mississippi remains in jeopardy until, the courts decide.

INTERESTING NEWS ITEMS OF THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLK IN HOLLYWOOD

ALTHOUGH he has been offered as much as $1,000 for it, Clark Gable refuses to part with the dilapidated automobile which Carole Lombard gave him as a Valentine last February. The actress, after having painted large red hearts and rosy cupids on the white hood and chassis, left it for Gable.

Shirley Temple and the Governor of California are on the same plane now, it seems. Shirley will get License No. 1 for her bicycle and the Governor will have license No. 1 for his automobile.

In order to maintain her weight at the desired 110 pounds, Joan Crawford has to eat two breakfasts. She lost five pounds during "The first few days of the filming of 'The Last of Mrs. Cheyney'."

Novel Christmas greetings were sent by Gladys Swarthout, operatic and screen star, and her husband Frank Chapman. They recorded their messages of Christmas cheer on phonograph discs, with a Christmas carol or two added for good measure. These were mailed out to friends.

Dorothy Lamour is one of the first actresses to adopt the "Simpson" coiffure—parted straight down the middle and held close to the sides of the head.

Rupert, the only trained rabbit in the movie world, received $50 a day for his work in "Escadille." Rupert is eight months old, snow-white, and has a "standin" and an "understudy."

According to Jean Harlow, who should know, working as a movie extra is easier now. Formerly, extras had to storm the studio gates to get work. Now, they are called by telephone, transportation is provided and they are paid in cash.

Richard Wheeler, the nine-year-old grandson of Mark Twain, recently took a screen test as a possible candidate in the title role in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," which is scheduled for production in April.

Mary Rogers, daughter of the late Will Rogers, who determined to make her own way before the camera and on the stage, has signed a contract with Twentieth Century-Fox and will have the feminine lead in "The Last Slave," the Warner Baxter-Wallace Beery-Peter Lorre vehicle.

After completing her work in "Wake Up and Live," Patsy Kelley will appear in "Saratoga Chips," Eddie Cantor's next film.

Eleanor Whitney and Johnny Downs will have the leading roles in "Turn Off the Moon," a musical film which Paramount plans to produce in the near future.

Although he has played in numbers of pictures, Alan Mowbray has been only one of the pictures in which he appeared in the last two years. That was "Ladies in Love."

Jean Acker, the first wife of Rudolph Valentino, is back in Hollywood after a retirement of a few years and had a role in "Tops of the town."

STORY, SONGS, DANCES MAKE "DIMPLES"

SHIRLEY TEMPLE'S GREATEST TRIUMPH

Singing, dancing and dimpling her way once more into millions of hearts, Shirley Temple's new Twentieth Century-Fox triumph, "Dimples," opens Sunday and Monday at the A. & G. Theater.

Hailed as Shirley's wonder show, and featuring swirly new song hits and brand new dance steps, "Dimples" is heralded as the outstanding hit in the little star's parade of brilliant triumphs.

An exceptional cast, headed by the irrepressible and inimitable Frank Morgan, supports Shirley in the film, with Helen Westley, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn, Delma Byron, the Hall Johnson Choir and Stepin Fetchit prominently featured.

Replete with laughter, romance and drama, "Dimples" tells the story of a lovable little street minstrel, Shirley, and her incorrigible but irresistibly funny guardian, Frank Morgan.

The film opens with Shirley leading a group of young sidewalk minstrels through songs and dances. As they conclude their performance Morgan pushes through the crowd and starts off the "contributions." This is how he and Shirley take out a precarious livelihood. Morgan has a penchant for other people's belongings and his nimble fingers fasten on anything of value with which they come in contact. His peccadillos eventually lead him into trouble but he goes out free through Shirley's winsome smiles and pleas.

With Shirley mothering and caring for the irresponsible scamp, the film moves through its highly entertaining story, climaxed with Shirley being cast in the starring role in a presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

With Morgan and Stepin Fetchit contributing hilarious laughter, Robert Kent, Astrid Allwyn and Delma Byron youthful romance, Helen Westley and Berton Churchill providing stirring drama, and Shirley better than even her previous hits, "Dimples" is the greatest in the successful series of Shirley Temple pictures.

Darryl F. Zanuck selected William A. Seiter director and Nunnally Johnson associate producer for the film.

Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin, authored the screen play and Jimmy McHugh and Ted Koehler wrote the music and lyrics.

APPOINTMENT OF NEW PRESIDENT TO LOYOLA UNIVERSITY

Appointee Brother of Bay St. Louis Resident—Frequent Visitor To This Section.

Considerable interest is centered in the announcement of the selection of the Rev. Harold J. Gaudin, S. J., of New Orleans, as president of Loyola University, since this "native son" of our neighboring metropolis frequently visits Bay St. Louis, and is a brother of Mrs. J. J. Grevenberg, residing with her family in Court street.

This is the first time a native Orleanian has been called to this outstanding post and is an honor of distinction to say nothing of the importance of place. The Rev. Gaudin is only 38 years of age and it is seldom such high responsibilities come to one comparatively so youthful.

The following excerpt from an editorial appearing in the N. O. Times-Picayune, January 29, under heading "Loyola's New President," will not be amiss in this connection.

"The change of president at Loyola university Sunday brought to that high educational post for the first time a 'native son' of New Orleans—the Rev. Harold J. Gaudin, member of a prominent New Orleans family. As a lad Father Gaudin attended the old Jesuit High school, at Common and Baronne, served as altar boy in the construction of the beautiful church of Loyola buildings in upper St. Charles avenue. Entering the Society of Jesus in 1917, he spent years of training in its educational institutions in this country, then studied in the Gregorian university at Rome for his degree as doctor of philosophy. His return to the city of his birth as head of the great university established by his order naturally interests and pleases his fellow-Orleanians. The community entire tenders him sincere welcome and every good wish for his success in his new task."

On account of poor circulation, many women suffer functional pains at certain times, and it is for these that CARDUI is offered on the record of the safe relief it has brought and the good it has done in helping to overcome the cause of menstrual discomfort. PASTOR AT DeLISLE WRITES OF CHRISTMAS AND IS THANKFUL

Services Held at Mission Churches—Priests From Bay St. Louis Assist Rev. Sorin.

The Rev. R. J. Sorin, pastor of the DeLisle mission for forty years wishes to express his sincere thanks to Rev. Charles Remelt, S. V. D., from the Seminary of St. Augustine, at Bay St. Louis, for his zeal and effort in holding midnight mass at Lizana Station. A capacity attendance of 300 persons filled the church. More than one hundred received Holy Communion after the religious services were over. Santa Claus, part taken by Mr. A. A. Lizana, brought delight to the children.

Father Remelt indeed had a busy night—before mass he was called to administer to a sick man. At 8 o'clock there was a second mass and the third mass was at 9 o'clock.

The midnight mass was the first such event in the history of Lizana. Likewise at the mission of Cuevas and Dubuisson, Rev. Clarence Weber, S. V. D., also from the colored seminary of the Bay, conducted the Christmas services.

The singing by the choir at Cuevas was under the capable direction of Mrs. Edna Sumrall.

Due to the interest of Miss Henrietta Courtois, the altar was appropriately decorated in keeping with the Christmas tide.

At Dubuisson church the singing was well rendered under the able and zealous leadership of Mrs. D. V. Moran, the organist. Here, too, the attendance was very great.

It was reported to Father Sorin that the sermons given at these missions on Christmas by the above named missionaries were sublimely impressive and lodged deeply into the hearts of their hearers. These two devoted men of God, are doing wonderful work in the outlying missions, work that will bring many souls nearer to God. Father Sorin wishes to extend most grateful thanks to the two fathers and to ask God to bless them a hundred fold for their work, and thanks to the congregations of Cuevas, Dubuisson and Lizana for responding so well to the work in their midst.

ATTACK PROJECT

Railroads have begun an attack on the Florida canal from the Gulf to the Atlantic, asserting that the cost will be nearer $366,000,000 than the estimated $162,000,000 of the special army board. Whether the project will be completed, for not, depends upon Congressional action.

C. M. WEEKS APPLIES FOR MEMBERSHIP IN FISH LIAR'S CLUB

Hammond (La.) Vindicator Conducting Contest—Former Bay St. Louis Resident Apparently in the Lead.

The Grand Chief Guistracutrix, as well as the secretary of the local tribe of liars, never dreamed that the organization would spread so far, but many notables are desirous of becoming members. The Vindicator has recently published several outstanding lies about fishing, but this week we offer a most interesting one from a gentleman who was former vice-president of the Garville Northern Railroad Company, Mr. C. M. Weeks. The only thing that could possibly be said against him is that he has swapped lies with such fellows as R. E. Rosenberger and George Smith, both interested in the Garville Northern and the Lumber company were operating in that section of dear old Livingston parish.

It looks like Mr. Weeks will receive a certificate before our next issue. Read his story and you will agree that he deserves one.

"I herewith submit my application for membership in your Anti-veracity Anglers Club; while not at present a resident of your good State I spent some twenty of the best years of my life there and trust I will be found eligible in the event the chronicle of my experience is found sufficiently impressive to qualify me."

"While I greatly enjoyed the many hours I spent in following the meanders of the Amite, the Tickfaw and other streams in your vicinity I occasionally ventured into the salt waters and spent time in your home with abundant evidence of my skill or luck, that still make my mouth water as I write."

"It is getting a bit late in the season for fish lies, I'll have to admit, as a real 18 carat fish liar requires warmer weather in which to function at his best, but as I do not speak the duck or bird language at all fluently and there are no bear or mountain lions on my reservation, I will have to stick to fish and let the scales fall where they may."

A few months ago one of New Orleans Three Star (on was "Four Fishers") Angling Clubs invited me to be their guest at a week end party, down where the grass meets the Gulf, and, needless to say, I accepted with alacrity. I afterwards learned that my friend, A. Dieffenbach (the Iron Man) was the member who wrote my name on the ballot, or invitation, just to give him an opportunity to show me up in reprisal for my having told of the four countless hours he had spent combing the old mill pond at Garville, a short time before, on which occasion he had caught fewer fish than London received votes in Ethiopia. I can prove the pond episode by R. E. Rosenberger who knows every fish in it by their first names, or by W. J. Stebbins, who takes along an extra boat to bring back his catch. To get on with my story: Leaving the City on Saturday afternoon we arrived at the fishing camp in due time, without incident, and spent rather a hectic night there playing "Token" poker and trying to figure out how we could sandwich the resulting deficits into our expense accounts without crowding out the overcosts, which we soon have to have, if we expected to survive the coming winter out of doors.

"At last came the dawn and I was elected to flare forth in a none too seaworthy tub equipped with a '41 model outboard motor, with the accent on the out, in company with a member who had joined the club on a bet that he could tell the difference between a full house and a fish flush, and lost."

"To insure our not venturing too far from camp we were rationed with but two quarts of gasoline and our chances of success were so little thought of that both quarts were charged-off to profit and loss in advance."

"For several hours we cruised discreetly within swimming distance of the shore and, having no luck, were about to lay a course back to camp and take 'Time out' to endure any indignities the high scorers might care to inflict on us, when, all of a sudden, I got a whale of a strike and feeling sure it was a Tarpon, from the books I had read, I yanked hard on my pole in an effort to set the hook firmly just back of his upper left wisdom tooth and, as it proved later on, succeeded."

"Just about this time our decrepit motor gave a few sputtering gasps and expired leaving us adrift with no oars, or other means of navigation, firmly anchored to an angry Tarpon who was headed for the open sea."

"We had no choice except to follow in his wake as he steered a course East by South, with our speedometer bettering fifty. In the course of a short time we were able to make out the dim outlines of South-West pass of the Father of Waters where we hoped, but as it proved vainly the poor fish would get confused and run aground. He was too able a seaman for any such blunder, however, and entered the Pass at full stride, we still trailing, and heading up stream with no noticeable slackening of his speed. We watched orange groves and other familiar landmarks flit by and passed a number of ocean going vessels, battling with the current, and wondering what mystic force was propelling us at such an incredible speed. Almost before we realized

ANOTHER CHANCE.

It breaks my heart to say good-by.
I weep to see the Old Year die;
For we have wandered, hand in hand.
As faithful friends, through fairland.

I learned to love the grand Old Year
When still a stripling. Doubly dear
Became our camaraderie,
The farther that he fared with me.

Together down the dusty road,
We shared each other's shifting load.
Together sang, together sighed,
Now I must wish that he has died.

Bring flowers for his frosty bier.
Upon each petal drop a tear
And hear the tender blossoms high,
Good-by, Old Year, good-by, good-by.

High welcome, New Year, brave and young.
There's music for you on each tongue.
There's welcome for you in each heart.
God give to you a gallant start.

Together let us take the trail.
United thus, we cannot fail.
Together let us seek to climb.
To purple peaks, serene, sublime.

Or if we find the way more sweet
To fare along with humbler feet.
Then teach my spirit to forget
The ghosts of failure haunting yet.

I meant, last year, to do so much
Of this or that, of such and such.
This dear Old Year was not at fault.
My truant heart was prone to halt.

But brave New Year with God-like glance,
I'm grateful for another chance.
Together let us take the trail.
United thus, we cannot fail.

JAMES H. WHEAT BURIED

Picayune, Miss., Dec. 27.—Funeral services for James H. Wheat, 69-year-old farmer of Pearl River county, were conducted at Buck Branch Baptist church by Elder J. Q. Sons. Interment was in Buck Branch cemetery.

Mr. Wheat was born October 13, 1869, in Pearl River county and spent his entire life in the same county. Survivors are his second wife, Mrs. Marjohney Newman Wheat, three children, W. Tom Wheat, R. F. D. Poplarville; Martin T. Wheat, Covington, La.; and Mrs. Inez Amacker, R. F. D. Poplarville three brothers and three sisters, Everett M. Wheat, and Ward Wheat, Buck Branch community; J. Sol Wheat, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Mrs. W. H. Slaydon, Nicholson, Miss.; Mrs. Jimmie Smith, Gulfport, and Mrs. George W. Amacker, White Sand.

Growing prevalence of reports that the cabinet would be shaken up as the new term of President Roosevelt begins has caused the word to be passed around that no such development is expected.

It is the sky-line of New Orleans came into view and our Tarpon began to show signs of running out of gas himself. He slowed down noticeably but still maintained good steeerage way until, nearing the dock at the foot of Canal Street, he exhibited signs of exhaustion. Evidently seeking a place of refuge under the wharf he ran afoul of one of the dock piles and wound the line around it, securely anchoring both himself and the boat and enabling us to step ashore dry shod.

"Finding himself fast he gave a last despairing lunge, tore the hook from his mouth, and disappeared in the river depths."

"Our claim to fame for our exploit were not allowed, as the club members maintained that we were landed by the Tarpon, instead of the Tarpon having been landed by us. What a World."

"We still have the wisdom tooth however, and will gladly exhibit it to your Committee at any time to back up our claim to eligibility for membership."

"We could relate an astounding experience we had in Livingston Parish but as it might involve our old friend, Simpson Sharp, for whom we still have a profound respect, we refrain trusting that your Committee will act favorably on our application, we remain.

"Yours for more and better fish lies,
C. M. WEEKS."

Two Homes Burn Near Picayune During Holidays

Two country homes were destroyed by fire in the vicinity of Picayune during the holidays, that of Green Brown, of Catahoula community, southeast of Picayune, and of Willie F. Pearson, in Caesar community, northeast of Picayune.

The Brown home was discovered in flames about 4:30 a. m., Christmas Day, by members of the Brown family who were home for the holidays and were returning from celebrations elsewhere. Only a small amount of furniture and about 150 gallons of syrup were saved.

The Pearson farm home burned while members of the family were in Picayune Christmas Eve afternoon doing their Christmas shopping.

—Mr. Robert Conner who is home for the holidays, will return to Nashville Sunday night to resume his law studies at Lebanon College. "Bob" says this has been one of the most enjoyable vacations in his life.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Thompson motored over from New Orleans to spend Christmas Day with Mrs. Thompson's sister, Mrs. L. S. Elliott and family. They returned home the same evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Catchings who reside at Hazlehurst, came down for the Christmas holidays and visited at the home of Mrs. Catchings' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gex, Sr., returning to their home Monday afternoon.

—Mrs. C. J. Buckley has returned from a stay in New Orleans visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. B. Crisler who has been seriously ill from a toxic ailment but, we are glad to say, has fully recovered and is up and about again.

—Mrs. O. J. Hart visited her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Frisette, in New Orleans during part of the holidays. On her return, she brought two of her grandsons to spend the remainder of the vacation in Bay St. Louis.

—Mrs. York Feitel returned home a few days ago from New Orleans, bringing home for the first time the recently born girl baby. Mr. and Mrs. Feitel and Miss Feitel are "at home" at the family domicile out Main street.

—Mrs. Carrie Nolan spent the Christmas holidays visiting at the home of her father at Pelahatchie, Miss., extremely aged and who has been quite ill, but now better. She was accompanied by her young daughter, Carolyn.

—Miss Mary Walker of Pascagoula, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Walker, old time residents of the Bay, is spending the holiday season with Misses Irene and Ruth Cazeneuve. Mrs. D. R. Walker was the eldest sister of the late J. V. Toulme.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ewell C. Potts former residents of New Orleans, have returned to that city after residing two years in Dallas, Texas. Their daughter Miss Bettie Potts is spending the holidays here with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Doize at their home in Front street.

—Devotees of the cinema will anticipate the showing of the new film production, "Camille," the greatest love story of all time, from the works of Alexandre Dumas. Grete Garbo and Robert Taylor are the co-stars. The story of lovely Marguerite Gautier and Armand Duval is unforgettable.

—Mrs. C. J. Chadwick motored over from New Orleans Christmas day with her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jewett, and visited at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. N. Dick, and their children at the family home in Carroll avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett were the house guests of Mr. H. P. Furbank and sons on North Beach.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Welch and two daughters, friends from Indianapolis, Ind., have been visiting their former home town during the week and looking after the interest of their beautiful dwelling, which they built and formerly occupied, on the South Beach. Both Mr. and Mrs. Welch and their family have been visiting in Florida and while motoring back home spent a few days here, registered at Hotel Weston. Extremely popular, they found a warm welcome "back home" and their friends made them "at home" reluctantly prior to departure. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Rea Wednesday evening.

DICKSON DRUG CO.
TO OPEN NEW DRUG
STORE, BEACH FRONT

To Be Located in Ames
Build, Opposite A. & G.
Theater — Laurent
Dickson in Charge

Having leased the Ames Bldg., opposite the local movie theater, on the beach front, the Dickson Drug Company will begin preparations Monday morning for immediate opening of a drug store, to be filled with an entire brand new stock of goods, and while catering to all features of the trade, will also specialize in compounding prescriptions.

Mr. Laurent Dickson heads the firm that has created this new business and in personal charge of the prescription department. The store, it is announced, will carry a full line of drug sundries and specialties, and will cater to both city and country trade.

The building, recently renovated and repainted, needs little or no attention, only awaiting the arrival of fixtures, and a stock that has been ordered. The stock will be gradually added to and, similar to other drug stores, there will be the usual novelties and specialties.

The refreshment department, it was said, will be installed later prior to the warm season when the demand is more seasonal.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Jr., returned from their Christmas visit to Mrs. Gex's parental roof at Abbeville, La., with Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Eldridge as their hosts. Needless to say the stay in this beauty spot of southwest Louisiana and in the midst of friends the Christmas tide was lastingly enjoyable.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sidney W. Prague spent the Christmas holidays with their relatives, Mrs. M. V. Gex and her family. They came over from New Orleans, where their young daughters are at a convent. Mrs. Prague comes to again resume her residence with her grandmother, while Mr. Prague left for Chicago and plans to be away on a two-month business trip.

—Christmas holidays passed off in Bay St. Louis and vicinity peacefully and as happily as is proper. There were no untoward incidents to mar the season. While there were many accidents and casualties over the country the Gulf Coast, typical of its serenity and beauty, experienced the season in all significance of beauty and spirit.

—The holiday vacation for schools has been of longer duration this season than usually. Needless to say every moment of the cessation period of study has been thoroughly enjoyed and pupils will resume their classes refreshed and ready for the '37 goal. Bay St. Louis is "quite proud" of its various institutions of learning and no less proud of the success of the boys and girls who attended.

—The outdoor Christmas tree of City Commissioner and Mrs. W. L. Borgeaux at "The Answer" has attracted admiration of passerby. The natural growing tree, tall and tapering down from peak to base easily lends itself to the electrical display of brilliant colored lights. This—possibly the only growing decorated Xmas tree in the immediate section of the city, has contributed largely to Yule-tide color and general holiday atmosphere.

—Bay St. Louis will be well represented today (Friday) in New Orleans at the Sugar Bowl football game with L. S. U. and Santa Clara of California in the clash. And New Year's Day in a measure will find this city deserted. On to New Orleans will be the order of the day. This town has more than the average number of lovers of outdoor sports in a community of this size, which in turn is a healthy sign. It will not only be a good game but a colorful one at that since California and Old Historic New Orleans will meet in open gridiron fiesta.

—Midnight Christmas Mass at the Church of Our Lady of the Gulf was largely attended, somewhat more than that of other years. Brothers from the choir of St. Stanislaus College sang the special mass adding to the beauty and solemnity of the occasion. The Rev. A. J. Gmelch was the chief celebrant of the mass. A feature of the main altar was the floral decoration, large poinsettias of deep and brilliant hue set in green foliage, contributed from home gardens.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Burrow had as their house guests for the Christmas holidays Mr. Burrow's mother, Mrs. J. B. Burrow, of Safford, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burrow of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Miss Evelyn Burrow, of the school faculty at Silvertown, Miss. This was a complete reunion of the Burrow family save one brother who is engaged in the banking business at Phoenix, Arizona. Unable to go home, Cashier Burrow's family came to Bay St. Louis in order the family might be reunited for the holidays. They also visited their cousin, Mrs. Evelyn H. Conner, while here and her family.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Welch and two daughters, friends from Indianapolis, Ind., have been visiting their former home town during the week and looking after the interest of their beautiful dwelling, which they built and formerly occupied, on the South Beach. Both Mr. and Mrs. Welch and their family have been visiting in Florida and while motoring back home spent a few days here, registered at Hotel Weston. Extremely popular, they found a warm welcome "back home" and their friends made them "at home" reluctantly prior to departure. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Rea Wednesday evening.

Radio listeners throughout the world will hear opera broadcast direct from the stage of New York's famous Metropolitan Opera House this year as the Christmas gift of the Radio Corporation of America, of which David Sarnoff, right, is president. Lucieza Borl, left, and Mr. Sarnoff, both directors of the Metropolitan Opera Association, helped to formulate the plan whereby music lovers throughout the country will hear the Saturday matinee performances weekly over NBC Networks.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

Mr. Arthur A. Loiacano, of Port Arthur, Texas, and Miss Juanita Benigno, of Bay St. Louis, daughter of Mr. Louis Benigno, were married Tuesday morning, December 29, at the church of Our Lady of the Gulf the very Rev. A. J. Gmelch, pastor, performing the simple and impressive ceremony of the faith. Many friends attended the marriage.

The bride, becomingly attired in bridal robes of white chiffon velvet, orange blossoms and tulle illusion veil, which heightened her beauty, presented a lovely picture. Her two bridesmaids were Miss Mary Loiacano, sister of the groom, of Port Arthur, Texas, and Miss Irma Garbisa of Bay St. Louis. Master L. J. Weinberg was ring bearer; little Miss Gloria Biehl, flower girl.

The groom was attended by Mr. Norman Benigno as best man; groomsmen, Mr. Andy Becker, both of this city.

An informal reception followed later. The bridal couple left the same afternoon for Orange, Texas, where they will visit for a while. Later they will go to Port Arthur where they will make their future home. This young couple has the best wishes of friends and acquaintances both in Mississippi and in Texas as well as elsewhere.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark, who now reside at Oklahoma City, Okla., returned to their home Thursday, after visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Alvin P. Smith, parents of Mrs. Clark. This popular young couple had come originally for only a day or two at best but their friends detained them a week which was to mutual satisfaction and holiday happiness. They were recipients of many social attentions while here. Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Jr., entertained them at a farewell dinner the evening prior to their departure.

Secretary of War Woodring wants a peace time army of 165,000 men and 14,000 officers, a greatly enlarged National Guard and an increased reserve of officers. The regular army, exclusive of Philippine Scouts, on June 30, 1936, numbered 12,069 officers and 146,826 enlisted men. There were 49 officers and 6,386 enlisted men in the Philippine Scouts. Enlistment at the rate of 1,500 men a month is expected to bring the army strength to 165,000 men by next June.

RELIEF PROBLEM

The problem of relief continues to occupy official minds. On December 31st, there were 2,383,332 on WPA rolls, costing about $160,000,000 a month. Anxiety is accentuated by the fact that while productivity and national income are steadily climbing the relief rolls have not diminished in proportion. Altogether since 1933, including WPA, CWA and other funds about $8,000,000,000 has been expended to take care of around 11,500,000 persons.

Personal and General

MISS DEL BONDIO TO ENTERTAIN AT NEW YEAR EVE PARTY.

MISS L. C. Del Bondio has issued invitations to a number of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian friends principally for a New Year Eve celebration and mid-night supper at her home, "Blue Heaven," on beautiful Pass Christian beach boulevard.

The midnight feast is set at a time planned to be at its height for the momentous hour when the world will bid adieu to 1936 and in turn welcome the new year. Between serving of courses semi-professional vaudeville numbers will be presented by out-of-town talent.

The splendor of indoor electrical decorations, so marked for the Christmas holidays, will remain intact for the occasion. The indoor tree will be a forest-like background, reaching from ceiling top to floor, will carry its hundreds of kaleidoscope-like lights.

This unusually and handsomely planned New Year's Eve party is presented by Miss Del Bondio and Miss Marie Bertrand. They will be assisted in receiving by Miss Hazel Abbley.

MR. AND MRS. SCHARFF
ENTERTAIN GROUP AT NOVEL XMAS PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Scharff entertained at a Christmas party on the evening of that day at their home in Carroll avenue. A group of intimate friends enjoyed the hospitality of the hosts, including the Rev. R. J. Kirschenheuter, C. M., who was the "honor guest" of the evening.

Following an evening of novel and all-absorbing entertainment a supper of twelve covers was served at 11 o'clock. Christmas decorations predominated.

A feature of the earlier part of the evening and one proving of keen interest was the opening of many beautifully wrapped and tied packages, revealing gifts exchanged that day by the group that had not been opened until that night—an original idea productive of much interest and pleasure.

LOCAL SALON ORCHESTRA
COMPOSED OF LOCAL TALENTS SCORES WELL.

One of Bay St. Louis' interesting and artistic organizations is the Ensemble Chantante of Bay St. Louis, composed of resident talent. Recently this group of artists gave a program at the Rotary banquet and entertainment was of superior quality and won well deserved plaudits by knowing ones. The numbers were not only from the classics but difficult and rendered with the greatest of ease and the most successful consummation.

The Ensemble Chantante, which consists of approximately 25 members, for the fine finish and cultural prestige it gives our city, is composed of Mrs. Roland Weston, Mrs. Katherine Thomas, Mrs. J. Briscoe Goldman, Mr. Rene de Montluzin, J. C. Gordon.

SPENDING NEW YEAR'S WITH FRIENDS NORTH.

Miss Louise Carriere, attractive and popular young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edouard Carriere, left during the past week-end for Sheboygan, Wis., where she will spend New Year's and remain for an indefinite period visiting at the house of college-mate friends. Miss Carriere is quite a favorite and will be the recipient of a round of social visits.

BRIDE IS COMPLEMENTED WITH LINEN SHOWER.

Mrs. William P. Cassidy, the former Miss Marion Ingram, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. S. J. Ingram, was the honoree of a lovely party Wednesday afternoon of last week in the form of a "linen bridal shower," given by Miss Vivian Tielhard at the home of her parents in Carroll avenue.

Opening of many packages revealed dainty and elaborate pieces of linen in varied design and of a variety of needle craft work. The gifts were quite numerous and the number of attendants on this delightful affair were equally as many.

Refreshments were served and the afternoon fled swiftly so delightful this informal and intimate function proved.

Mrs. Cassidy and her husband, Mr. William P. Cassidy, of Brookhaven, are both students at University of Mississippi studying special major courses.

GUESTS TO A DINNER PARTY AT NEW ORLEANS.

A congenial party motored to New Orleans Monday to attend a dinner given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Adams at their home. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Heidt D. Elliott, Mrs. Sarah Power, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Arce-neaux, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vassall. The occasion was a most happy one.

YOUNG MISS PRAGUE
RECIPIENT OF BIRTH-DAY SURPRISE.

Miss Vivian Prague was the recipient of a most pleasant surprise Tuesday evening, in celebration of her recent birthday reaching twelfth milestone.

The buffet supper was tendered by her grandmother, Mrs. M. V. Gex, and aunt, Miss Gex, at their residence on North Beach. Decorations appropriate to the holiday season were in tasty evidence on every side and the table particularly was lavishly decorated and in admirable taste.

Twelve young people besides the honoree and her sisters sat at the table, the number including Bertha
